

HIGHER CERTIFICATE IN MANAGEMENT

Dr. Josianne Roma-Reardon

Dr. Roma-Reardon is the Managing Director of One Voice South Africa in Durban.

The management course equipped Josianne with new skills and built on those that she had already acquired in her previous studies and at work. She was presented with an opportunity to better understand how important leadership and teamwork are in an organization as well as other key elements such as performance management, project management, diversity management, operations management and marketing. These tools were useful to her, especially working for an NGO in the HIV and AIDS sector.

"Personally, I think that the work FPD is doing is brilliant, they have put together some great courses, which respond to the needs of many of us in the management and health fields in South Africa. They have also appointed very knowledgeable and professional facilitators to guide us through the course work, and provided many opportunities for us to develop our skills and knowledge. An organisation such as FPD is very valuable to us in South Africa, and I would encourage others to visit their website and apply for many of the courses they offer, you are never too old or too young to learn!"
