

HIGHER CERTIFICATE IN MANAGEMENT

Mrs. Samanta Tresha Lalla-Edward

Ms Lalla-Edward is the Technical Specialist for Data Quality within the Monitoring and Evaluation Team for WHI – The Wits Institute for Sexual and Reproductive Health, HIV and Related Diseases.

She appreciated the fact that the course forced her to be introspective in order to answer the question “Where do I fit in?” She had to understand her personality, leadership style, conflict resolution style and where she fits into her team. Her organization has allowed her to take the strides towards achieving organizational goals and objectives more effectively.

The course coordinators were highlighted as being approachable and helpful.

“Education adds value to people’s live albeit in different ways. FPD through the assistance of USAID is making it possible for people to increase their individual knowledge databases by presenting them with an opportunity to participate in courses which, whilst being relevant to their work and related contexts, incorporates international standards. The provision of scholarships further affords people the chance to obtain qualifications that they may have previously wanted to attain but could not financially afford. Being an ardent believer of capacity development and an eternal student I strongly support FPD’s vision of building a better society through education and development.”
